

Building a State of Democracy: 2017 at a Glance

A Message from our Executive Director

I'm new at Democracy North Carolina but was drawn here by the work that engages people to our democracy and strengthens the systems around it. In 2017, we deepened our ties in local communities, recruited and trained a new wave of leaders to monitor local elections, staged hundreds of advocacy events, and distributed hundreds of thousands of voting-related resources. Our five field offices now coordinate more than a dozen local coalitions from Greenville to Asheville. Our research continues to root our policy recommendations in the experiences of real voters. And above all, we speak loudly for free, fair, and accessible elections that will lead to a better North Carolina for all. Together, we're building a state of democracy, and we are grateful that you've joined us in that work.

Tomas Lopez
Executive Director

DEMOCRACY NORTH CAROLINA

2017 STATEWIDE SUPPORT AND ACCOMPLISHMENTS

In 2017, Democracy North Carolina utilized the full strength of its research, organizing, advocacy, public education, and communications programs to expand the effectiveness of organizations and individuals who care about civic participation and government reform. This map illustrates examples of that statewide work and highlights the regions that helped lead it. The figures represent statewide data.

Triad

700,000: number of educational resources created and distributed, with the vast majority distributed through new coalitions with strong democracy advocates, like those emerging from Rowan and Alamance Counties.

West

287: total events hosted in 2017. This includes 138 events in western North Carolina alone, with an 183% increase in event attendance over 2016.

Western Piedmont (Charlotte area)

100+: neighborhood canvasses and phone banks, staged demonstrations, community teach-ins, and film screenings to generate exposure and support for fair maps, including dozens of on-the-ground events in Charlotte area communities.

Triangle

25,000: petitions collected and delivered by advocates to the NC General Assembly in Raleigh, calling for an end to gerrymandering in North Carolina.

Northeast

5: regional "We Are Democracy" trainings, preparing hundreds of the state's most engaged democracy advocates with the skills they would need to lead in a new year, beginning with a successful kickoff in Greenville.

Statewide

Democracy NC comprehensively documented actual voters' perspectives from the 2016 General Election. Generated in 2017 from incidents reported from the Election Protection hotline and poll monitor program, our From the Voter's View report identified problems in North Carolina's election system and offered policy recommendations designed to protect voters statewide.

Southeast

26,000+: number of social media views produced by the 18th annual class of Democracy Summer. In 2017, these strong student leaders took advantage of legacy and social media — like never before — to promote their advocacy efforts, including a popular student-led radio show in Fayetteville.
